...on the tracks to biological effects...

17th International Symposium on Microdosimetry

An Interdisciplinary Meeting on Ionising Radiation Quality, Molecular Mechanisms, Cellular Effects, and Their Consequences for Low Level Risk Assessment and Radiation Therapy

November 5 - 10, 2017

Venice (Venezia) – Italy

PURPOSE

The Symposium is intended to provide a forum for scientists from different disciplines to exchange and discuss recent data and findings on relevant basic physical and biological mechanisms of radiation action and their consequences for risk assessment and radiation therapy, including proton and ion therapy.

The 17th Symposium will be a celebration of the 50th Anniversary of the Symposium, and continues the eminent tradition by promoting and encouraging interdisciplinary interactions between advances in physical and chemical techniques and knowledge, combined with the latest rapid advances in molecular and cellular biology and genetics.

Moreover, room will be dedicated to the recent technical developments in radiation detection and novel irradiation techniques as well as to discuss the current status of topical non-linear phenomena and to review the progress made in modelling radiation action and the multi-step process of radiation induced cancer and neuro-radiobiology with application to epidemiological data, in particular for the better quantification of low dose and low dose rate risks.

In order to maximize interdisciplinary communication and discussion the Symposium will be structured as Invited, Oral and Posters presentations. Refresher courses by invited experts are also foreseen.

To encourage the attendance of young scientists as well as researchers from less-favoured-Countries, specific awards are foreseen.

TOPICS

The programme will include Invited, Oral and Poster presentations as well as Refresher courses on the following main topics:

- Physical, chemical and biological aspects of radiation transport and particle track formation for various radiation fields including space radiation environments
- Processes leading to and repair of molecular, cellular and tissue radiation damage
- Non-linear phenomena at low-doses such as radiation-induced bystander effects, genomic instability, adaptive response and hyper-radiosensitivity
- Neuro-radiobiology
- Computational biology for radiation induced modifications of biological targets at cellular, tissue and organism levels, including radiation carcinogenesis
- Novel techniques of radiation detection, dosimetry and micro-/nano-dosimetry
- Advances in microbeam technology
- Dosimetry for incorporated radionuclides
- Advances in radiation therapy, including neutron, proton and ion therapy
- Radiation risk assessment

CALL for PAPERS and ABSTRACT SUBMISSION

You are invited to submit abstracts on the topics characterizing the Symposium within August 31, 2017.

Authors should indicate their preference for either:

1. Oral presentation

or

2. Poster presentation

The Micros2017 Scientific Secretariat will decide, on the basis of the submitted abstracts, which accepted contributions are suitable for oral or poster presentation.

Authors will be notified about the outcome by September 8, 2017 and will receive instructions for the preparation of the manuscript to be submitted for publication on the Symposium Proceeding (see, section below)

Method of submission: Authors are recommended to use the electronic Abstract Submission Form which is available at the Conference web site (<http://MICROS2017.LNL.INFN.IT>), under the button "Submit a new abstract".

Authors are asked to specify the presenting Author's name, affiliation, e-mail address, the preferred presentation format and classification track (within the main topics of the Symposium).

Abstracts should not exceed 1500 characters in length.

To submit an abstract the Author has to register as "INDICO user". INDICO is the event management software adopted by INFN.

Clicking on the Symposium webpage button "Submit a new abstract" you will be redirected to the INDICO registration page: if you are already an INDICO-INFN user you will be asked to insert your INDICO-INFN username and password; if not, you will be asked to register.

PROCEEDINGS

The Proceedings will be published as a special issue of the peer-reviewed international journal "Radiation Protection Dosimetry". Therefore all contributions will undergo a review process in order to maintain the high standard quality of the hosting Journal and of the Microdosimetry Proceedings series.

All Authors are solicited to submit their manuscripts to the Conference Secretariat at the Conference site.

General Information

VENUE

The Symposium will be held in Venice (Venezia), Italy, at the "Congress Center" of the "Cultural Center Don Orione Artigianelli", Zattere - Dorsoduro 919 - 909/A, [on the "Giudecca Canal", in front of the "Giudecca" isle, close to the "Accademia Galleries", "Peggy Guggenheim Collection" and "Grand Canal", within ~20 minutes walking distance from "St. Mark's Square" (Piazza San Marco)].

2 - Venice Biennale Arte 2017

[see description on the "Monday" programme]

► Wednesday, November 8, 2017 - Social Tour (for Delegates and Companions)

Excursion to "San Lazzaro degli Armeni and Murano Isles"

A private boat will lead the Participants through the fascinating Venice lagoon to "San Lazzaro degli Armeni" and then to "Murano" Isles.

"San Lazzaro degli Armeni" (Saint Lazarus of the Armenians) is currently entirely occupied by the "Mekhitarist monastery" of San Lazzaro, which is the headquarters of the Armenian Catholic Mekhitarist Congregation.

Settled in the 9th century, the small isle was a leper colony during the Middle Ages, and later abandoned. In 1717 San Lazzaro isle was donated by the Republic of Venice to Mkhitar Sebastatsi (Mechitar) and his followers who established an Armenian Catholic monastery.

It was recognized as an academy by Napoleon in 1810 when nearly all monasteries of Venice were abolished. Among the relevant visitors of the San Lazzaro isle should be mentioned Lord Byron (1816–1817).

The monastery currently contains a church with a "campanile" (bell tower), residential quarters, library, museums, picture gallery, manuscript repository, printing plant, research facilities, gardens, a bronze statue of Mekhitar and a 14th-century basalt khachkar (cross stone).

After the San Lazzaro isle visit, the boat navigation will continue towards the Isle of Murano. Murano is the isle of the glassblowing art tradition, often just called the "glass island".

Indeed, Murano isle is a collection of seven islands linked each other by bridges. In 1295 all Venetian glass factories were moved to the isle of Murano to preserve the city center from fires that often were caused by factories themselves, but also to protect the glass making art from unwanted eyes and ears. Moreover, over the years, the glass masters were forced to live on the island and could not leave it unless they had a special pass. The Art of blowing glass was an inestimable richness for the "Republic of Venice" ("Serenissima").

Murano is still a global exporter of traditional products like mirrors and glassware, and its factories produce modern items, too.

The Murano isle visit includes a walking tour along its canals and through its bridges and narrow alleys and the visit to the laboratory of a glass artisan to admire their artworks.

While reaching the "San Lazzaro" isle from the "Zattere", a "welcome coffee" will be served on board.

Leaving "Murano" isle, in returning to "Zattere", a cocktail will be served on board. The excursion will end at the "Zattere" at 7 pm.

Price per person: 40,00 Euros

Including: boat and entrance fee; guided tour; coffee and cocktail served on board

Duration: a half day (2:00 - 7:00 pm)

All abstracts, papers and presentations must be in English.

HOW TO REACH Venice (Venezia), Italy

By plane

Venezia (Venice), Italy, is served by its own International Venice Airport named "Marco Polo" (airport code: VCE), located at Tessera about 13 km from Venice city (Piazzale Roma) and, among others, by the nearest International airport of Treviso-Sant'Angelo named "A. Canova" (airport code: TSF), 31 km away from Venice city (Piazzale Roma) and often called "Venice-Treviso international airport" .

Be aware that some European low cost airlines operate flights to just Venice-Treviso airport (not to Venice/Venezia "Marco Polo").

Therefore be careful to check the final destination of your flights.

Arriving at the International Venice Airport "Marco Polo":

The International Venice Airport "Marco Polo" is connected by mainland roads to Venice "Piazzale Roma" Bus Station by continuous running bus services operated by "ACTV" and "ATVO" companies.

ACTV "line 5" connects the airport to Piazzale Roma in approximately 25 minutes by mainland road; a combined 90-minute bus/"vaporetto" ticket is also available.

ATVO Express Service will take you to Piazzale Roma in about 20 minutes.

ACTV and ATVO (one-way or return trip) tickets can be purchased at the ticket offices in the airport arrival lounge or either at the ticket machines in the baggage claim area and at the bus stops.

ATVO tickets may also be purchased on board or online.

A detailed timetable and updated bus fares can be checked on the ACTV and ATVO website, respectively.

The Venice "Marco Polo" airport is also connected via sea to Venice city center "San Marco / San Zaccaria dock" by "Alilaguna" lines (BLUE, ORANGE and RED-via Murano). A detailed timetable and updated bus fares are available on the Alilaguna website. Alilaguna (one-way or return trip) tickets can be purchased at the the "Alilaguna Desk" in the arrivals lounge, at the ticket machines in the baggage claim area, at the ticket office at the "vaporetto dock" and on board the "vaporetto".

A (land) taxi service is also available, operated by "Radiotaxi Venezia" connecting Venice "Marco Polo airport" to Piazzale Roma. The journey lasts approximately 15-20 minutes

It is also possible to catch a "water taxi" from the "Marco Polo" airport to Venice city center.

Further information on the "Radiotaxi Venezia", "Consorzio Motoscafi Venezia" and "Venice WaterTaxi" website, respectively.

Be aware that taxi is a more expensive choice than bus.

Arriving at the International airport of Treviso-Sant'Angelo "A. Canova" :

The International airport of Treviso-Sant'Angelo "A. Canova" is connected to Venice "Piazzale Roma" bus station or railway station "Santa Lucia" by bus services operated by "ATVO". The "Barzi Service" buses connect the Treviso airport to the "Tronchetto isle". You can easily reach Venice center from "Tronchetto" by taking the "People Mover" that brings you to Piazzale Roma in a few minutes or taking "vaporetto - line 82" which brings you to the heart of the city

By train

Venezia is connected by railway to every major city in Italy and to the rest of Europe. The main Venice city railway station (Stazione F.S. "Venezia Santa Lucia") is on the "Canal Grande" (Grand Canal) in the Northwest corner of the city. Some through trains do not terminate at Santa Lucia, stopping instead at the "Venezia-Mestre" railway Station on the mainland.

All trains travelling to and from "Santa Lucia" stop at Mestre, so to get from "Venezia-Mestre" to Santa Lucia, or vice versa (a 10-minute trip), take the first available train, (remember: you must have the proper train ticket).

Please check the European train schedule www.raileurope.com (in case you are travelling by train from Europe) or the Italian train schedule www.trenitalia.it (if you are getting to Venice from another Italian city).

From Venezia "Santa Lucia" railway station you can walk (approx 20-30 minutes) to the selected Hotel or catch a "Vaporetto" (public "water bus"), to the stop closest to your final destination.

For further details on the "Vaporetto" timetable see ACTV Home Page: www.actv.it/inglese/home.htm

By car

Venezia can be reached by car through the Italian highway network:

- highway A4 from west (from Torino/Turin) or east (from Trieste)
- highways A1 and A14 (till Bologna and then A13), A13 (till Padova and then A4) from the South
- highways A22, A23, A27 and A28 from the North (from Brennero, Tarvisio, Belluno and Pordenone, respectively; and then A4).

The final car destination in Venice city is "Piazzale Roma".

Arriving at "Piazzale Roma" it is necessary to leave the car in one of the car parks running there (on payment): Autorimessa Comunale ASM Venezia; Garage S. Marco spa before entering "Piazzale Roma", just on the right at the end of the "Ponte della Libertà" (the long bridge entering in Venice), following the street-signs, it is possible to park at the "Tronchetto" isle car park: "Venezia Tronchetto Parking srl".

Or:

You can easily reach Venice center from Tronchetto by taking the "People Mover" that brings you to Piazzale Roma in a few minutes or taking "vaporetto - line 82" which brings you to the heart of the city before entering the "Ponte della Libertà" (the long bridge entering in Venice), just on the left, following the street-signs, it is possible to park at the "San Giuliano" isle car park ("San Giuliano Car Parking - ASM car park").

From "San Giuliano" you can reach Venice by "vaporetto" that takes you to the Venice city stop "Fondamenta Nuove" (15 minutes walk from "Piazza San Marco").
