

Future challenges for Axion Physics

Tuesday, 22 January 2019 14:30 (1 hour)

In this talk, I want to provide with some topics that I consider interesting to be explored in the near future. In particular, I will discuss a few ideas for small and big projects that could be developed in relation with axion physics, with a particular attention to the role of substructures.

Presenter: VISINELLI, Luca