

Poster summary

In my poster I describe my work related to the assembly and test of a large SiPM array in liquid xenon.

After briefly describing what nEXO is, I address these questions:

- why is the assembly of a large SiPM array important for nEXO?
- what are the challenges of designing such system?
- what is the assembly process?
- preliminary data?