

Remarks on the scientific WIFAI organisation

The scientific committee

What we think worked well

Participation: ~80 registered, an average of 60 in the room during all of the sessions

Discussion: all talks in time, each session significantly out of time → lively and genuine discussion, also with questions meant to really improve understanding

Structure: 2.5 days, executive intro talk when felt necessary, 20+5 talks, 6/7 talks/session → freedom to fine-tune the organisation in each session proved fruitful

Design: italian-contributed intensity-frontier experiments, limit perspectives and discuss stringent problems / challenges

What we think might be improved

SC structure: improve it to better follow the effort and implement deadlines

Timing: we started and converged with the workshop structure and gave the final announcement too late (linked to the previous point): in-advance interaction with speakers to fine tune the contributions had not been possible

Detector-related contributions: while avoiding a dedicated session, it is worth considering physics-driven hardware contributions specific to each session

Young researchers: an additional half-day session might be dedicated to early-career contributions, still featuring proceedings → BTW, please follow the instructions to prepare/submit the proceedings to THIS edition

Discussion: should check in advance the availability of a blackboard also for the future

Proceedings

The proceedings of the WIFAI 2023 conference will be published in PoS - Proceedings of Science, the open access online journal organized by SISSA, the International School for Advanced Studies based in Trieste. PoS conferences are indexed by ADS NASA and INSPIRE, and each published contribution is linked to a DOI (Digital Object Identifier).

Maximum length set for contributions

Max 6 pages for contributions up to 25 minutes and 10 pages for longer talks.

Deadline for the submission of contributions.
