

PubComm news

1. The isobutane paper was submitted to Physics Letters B at the end of September and it's still under review from the journal. News are expected soon.
2. The paper on enhanced light yield (ELY) is still under PC review. The terms expired, but the iteration with the appointed reviewers (Cristina and Ernesto) is ongoing. Few more days are required before the circulation in the collaboration.
3. The long overdue paper on simulation will be released soon. We reached a conclusion on data/MC comparison which is satisfactory in our opinion. [The not perfect agreement in terms of energy resolution with previous analysis on data, which was our latest concern, is not the focus here.]
4. The NID analysis review towards writing 2 papers on the subject paper is ongoing. Elisabetta is collecting ALL the information here:

Two official reviewers were appointed (Francesco and Stefano) but all collaborators are welcome to submit their comments.
The next (last?) meeting on analysis review will be on Wednesday morning (TBC) then the focus will be on the papers themselves.
