

Contribution ID: 71

Type: Poster

Core facility INDACO

INDACO, a core facility of the University of Milan, aims to support scientific research with easily sharable computing resources characterized by a prompt availability, on-demand tunability, and a locally managed resource allocation system, based on a moderately-parallel architecture.

Dedicated computing power and data storage will be made available to the University Departments, as well as to companies from the Milan region

Primary author: Dr ALESSI, alessio (University of Milano)

Session Classification: Poster session

Track Classification: Infrastrutture ICT e Calcolo Distribuito