The Event

The 14th Cosmic-Ray International Studies and Multi-messenger Astroparticle Conference (CRIS-MAC) will be held in Sorrento from 13 to 17 July, 2026 at Hostel Ulisse Deluxe.

The conference is jointly organized by the Napoli Division of the National Institute of Nuclear Physics (INFN), the Department of Physics “E. Pancini” of the Napoli University “Federico II” and by the Department of Physics and Chemistry “E. Segrè” of the Palermo University.

As in previous editions, the conference will focus on fundamental topics in astroparticle physics with special emphasis on the multi-messenger astronomy studies.

CRIS-MAC 2026 aims to present overviews of existing data and reports from the presented future experiments. Talks will cover both theoretical/phenomenological and experimental/observational aspects, in order to give an exhaustive overview of this complex field. The discussion about the present status and future plans calls for the involvement of both theorists and experimentalists working on various messengers.

The program will include invited lectures, contributed talks and posters.

As in the past, the CRIS-MAC 2026 Conference is addressed to scientists in the field as well as to PhD and graduate students. The participation of young researchers is warmly welcome. The best contribution presented by a young participant (graduate and PhD student or under 30 years-old post-doc) will be awarded
