

CERN

Accelerating Science and Innovation

Change of Scientist in Charge at CERN

Fabio Formenti was Section Leader of our team until end of December 2012

Since then, he is no longer involved in this topic , however, he is involved in all messages since the beginning and gives me all the support I need.

Beginning of 2014, he asked that his name should be replaced by mine in the official documents. Nevertheless, he remains open to help me in all administrative aspects.

Training at CERN

During the first discussions with Paola, the objective when involving CERN in this project was that CERN would provide training of a young engineer in the design of complex electronic boards.

Later in the definition of the GA and aligned with the aim of knowledge exchange of the IAPP, it has been asked that CERN provides in addition more general training.

I asked for a meeting with Paola and the help of Fabio Formenti to review what can CERN provide as a suited training in this project.

Anyhow, if a general training with visits of the PCB manufacturing and assembly facilities has to be organized, 2014 is not really adequate, since the construction of a new building has been delayed for months and will only be available by mid-2015.

Thus, I propose in a first approach to move the training to 2015 or even 2016 and review with Paola beginning of April what can be done.

Thank You !

